

Family Photography Prices 2015

Natural Family Photographs

My approach to family photography and the photography of social events is an informal one.

I prefer to blend in, and after a while people stop reacting to the camera so much and carry on as if I wasn't there, which gives a natural look to the photographs.

To do this kind of photography I would spend up to an hour with your family, rather than rush it, and go out into the garden, or to the local park or woods if possible. If photographing children in a public place, please be aware that I am unable to include other people's children without a parent's permission.

For indoor photography I make as much use as possible of the natural light available in a room, as well as some portable studio equipment.

Family Photography Package

This basic package can be customised to suit your needs, so please contact me to discuss those and get a quote.

What's included:

- Photography session of up to an hour at a location of your choice, such as a park, local woods, a favourite family place or even your own house or garden.
- At least 30 high resolution photos supplied on CD. These will be fully processed and ready to print at up to A4 size. For best results use a good photo lab or an inkjet printer with photo paper. You are free to print as many as you like and give the files to friends and family too if you wish.
- The option to order professionally produced prints of your favourite photos.

What to bring:

- Things to do and have fun with, such as ball games or a picnic.
- Wear clothes that you can mess around in, and you don't mind a bit of dirt on!

Portrait Package

For a more formal portrait session in your home, office or on location.

What's included:

- Photography session of up to an hour at a location of your choice.
- A selection of high resolution photos chosen from the shoot, supplied on CD, as for family package. The number of photographs will be fewer than the standard family package, as this more formal way of working does not generate as many images.
- The option to order professionally produced prints if you wish.

If you have a light room with a large window this is the ideal place to do the shoot, as I can make use of the natural light. Don't worry if not, we can use portable lighting and backgrounds. This type of photography does not generate as many photos as the 'Out and About', so fewer are included as standard and the price reflects this.

Family Occasions and Events

As well as families with children, I also take a similar approach to photographing adults, parties, anniversaries and weddings; any kind of social event where people mix and interact. Please contact me with the details for a quote.

I also run a variety of 'photobooths' for events, please see my website for details.

Black & White Photography

All photos can also be supplied in black & white as well as colour, for a small additional charge.
